WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

Their Unceasing Work Keeps us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Mrs. Nellie May, of 303 Pennsylvania ave., Joplin, Mo., says: "I know from my own experience that Doan's Kidney Pills are a reliable kidney remedy. I was bothered for six or eight weeks with a constant dull heavy aching in the small of my back. I was tired all the time, lacked ambition and in the morning always felt worse. Having reason to believe these symptoms were caused from the kidneys I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. They proved to be the very remedy I required, and under the treatment the backache, languor and other symptoms disappeared."

AID TO RELIEVE CHOKING.

Doctors Say Time Lost May Mean Fatal Termination as in Case of Baltimore.

From the case of Mrs. Jennie Armstrong, who died from strangulation the other afternoon at the place where she was boarding, physicians say that all persons may well take a lesson, says the Baltimore Sun.

When a person chokes, however slightly, they say, haste must be taken to dislodge the obstruction, but care should be exercised in the method.

"When a person chokes at the table or elsewhere," said Dr. J. S. Fulton, secretary of the state board of health, "he should promptly stand up, as attempts to cough up the obstruction while sitting are liable to cause it to sink farther down the windpipe."

"The seriousness of choking depends upon the position of the lungs when the lodgment occurs. If they are inflated the pressure which the person naturally exerts is likely to move the obstruction, but the serious cases are where the lungs happen to be deflated, and the first efforts at coughing carry the object farther down the windpipe."

"With a child in a serious condition of this kind the best thing to do is to lift it up bodily by the feet, with the head hanging down ward, and give a few violent jerks. This is almost certain to accomplish the desired result. In dealing with a grown person the remedy is not so easy. One of the best methods is to grasp him around the waist and have him lean forward, so that his head will be as low as his feet, and then give violent shakes."

"The slight of a choking person is likely to excite those who see it. After the first convulsive coughs have failed and the sufferer begins to lose strength so rapidly that he cannot make further efforts the case seems to be hopeless. But even after breath has been entirely cut off and the person is helpless there is no need to despair of saving the life. Prompt and vigorous action, as long as the head is kept down and gravity is helping, may jolt out the obstruction.

"When the simple methods seem to fail no time should be lost in sending for a physician, or, preferably, a surgeon. Often lives have been saved at the last moment by the bold use of the knife. There is no time then for anaesthetics or other preliminaries. The moment the larynx has been cut and an air passage opened the patient begins to breathe and regain strength."

"The story is told of Dr. L. McLane Tiffany, who was once about to operate on a young person to remove an unnatural growth from the nostrils, when the bit of flesh fell into the patient's windpipe. Without a moment's delay he cut through and removed the obstruction and made what was a remarkable operation."

"Once there was an old country doctor who was called in to a patient who was choking with a button. 'Do something, quick,' all cried, as he came in at the door. The patient was on the floor, on her hands and knees, straining to cough up the button. The doctor had on a big pair of boots. He swung back and gave her one kick, which sent the button flying in one direction and her in another."
